The agitators were reported to be using the militarists' own weapon, terrorism, in their plans. At least two murders and several shootings in the Chinese quarter are known to have taken place. Two were arrested on murder charges.

Victims of the agitators are chiefly Chinese foremen who opposed the recent strike, which labor leaders regarded as a preparatory test for a real demonstration. They expected that the preliminary strike would reveal "weaknesses" which they hoped to correct.

IN DEFENSE QUESTIONED

LONDON, March 2. (P)—The question of whether the United States is co-operating with the British authorities in defense of the international settlement at Shanghal was raised in the House of Commons today. Sir Austen Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary, told questioners that the United States was acting independently in defense of its own interests in China.

"There is no rivalry between the United States and ourselves," declared the Foreign Secretary. They act as an independent power and as they think proper."

Sir Joseph Hall asked whether this meant that the United States was unprepared to take action in the defense of nationals of other countries. "No. I have not said that," responded Sir Austen. He added that he was not inclined to define the attitude of a foreign power in unconsidered answers to such questions,

Replying to another query, he said that in view of the delicate situation at Shanghai. British troops had taken up precautionary positions along a defense line partly outside the limits

THE CINDERELLA MOT By J.P. Marquand

That Gold Coast youth, Beverley Endicor Witherspoon, knew shockingly little about the Cinderella motif. But when, right in the middle of one of Beacon Street's most exclusive dances, the aforesaid motif walked up and hit him—well, he started to learn, and he learned fast!

Genial Governor Golding lived pretty thoroughly for the good times of life. Of all things, he most profoundly enjoyed an excellent dinner in good company followed by a game of poker. A friend he had thought dead for many years comes back into his life for one night, and the message that he brings opens a new world to his host. Booth Tarkington's story, Mr. White, in next week's issue of The Saturday Evening Post, is so unusual and so impressive that it will stir your memory for many a year.

triumph was that of youth over age, as it were.

Young Tom Holley, who recently changed his mind about going to college, and only two days ago joined Vitt's forces, ruined things for the Stars, blasting a home run into left field with two men on the bags. Holley's swat was a thing of much power and beauty, the boy banging himself right into Vitt's heart with the blow. Anybody who can paste the horse-hide is a welcome addition to the Hollywood camp. Holley is only 17 years of age. He played third base for the Lambs yesterday and will play there a lot more if he continues to pound the onion as he did yesterday.

Arthur Galeria, the bespecta-

This took the form of a lengthy screed in which Mr. Richard Donald explained that possibly some persons had jumped to hasty conclusions in publicly castigating him fore and aft, as it were. At any rate, he dictated a letter to Mr. Will Doughass of his exploitation department which subsequently reached the proprietor of this column. The same follows: "Mr. Paul Lowry, Los Angeles Times, March 2, 1927.

"My Dear Paul:

forts to 'horn in,' as they termed it.

"It has been a well-known fact that I have always wanted to promote bexing shows in the Olympic Auditorium, and in fact, started to negotiate for the club before Jack Doyle, the Vernon promoter.

before Jack Doyle, the Verson promoter.

"I have talked with various ereditors and stockholders of the club in the past year or so and they led me to believe that I might have the opportunity I sought. Understand that I didn't ask for the whole club, but a chance to alternate in promoting shows there.

"It has been rumored for the past year that Jack Doyle had the Olympic Audiforium, but at no time was there conclusive proof of it.

"On Monday afternoon I attended a meeting of the California State Boxing Commission. At the meeting Doyle produced a lease for the Olympic Club. It was my intention, before Doyle produced the lease. to ask for permission to stage bouts every other week.

"Inasmuch as the two big clubs of the city, the Olympic Auditorium and Vernon, had been alternating in their shows and that the Olympic had failed. I felt that I was entitled to some consideration and the right to stage bouts every other week in the town.

"I thought that a conference with Mr. Garbutt of the Los Angeles Athletic Club might be arranged and that some terms might be made with him whereby some agreement could be reached that I could alternate with whoever took over the club.

"If it was satisfactory with the Boxing Commission I was ready to post a certified check for $50,000 to guarantee my part of any agreement I might enter into with Mr. Garbutt or the creditors of the Olympic Auditorium.

"When Mr. Doyle produced his lease it naturally cast a different aspect on the whole affair and I simply asked for permission to stage bouts alternating with Mr. Doyle. When asked where I intended to stage bouts alternating with Mr. Doyle. When asked where I intended to stage my semimonthly shows I replied that I would put them in Wrigey Field, but if some plan could be arranged I would like to share the Olympic Anditorium with Mr. Doyle.

"When asked what asset I had I replied that I stood ready to go in on any basis that could be arranged agreeable to all conconcerned. I was also ready to post a certified check to guarantee that I would live up to any arrangements made.

"In regard to the boxing game, I feel that I, too, have the confidence of the public. Since the afvent of the ten-round boxing law I have staged the biggest "In Mr. Garbutt's statement published in the Mercury he says that Doyle has been a successful promoter. It is a well-known fact that Doyle has lost money since the ten-round game became legalized. I believe that with the obstacles that have been thrown in my path and which I had to overcome. I have been more successful, on the whole, than any promoter in the West. "I know that my experience in the boxing game extends over as long a period of years as any other man connected actively with the game in California today. "While Doyle held forth at Vernon no other promoter had a possible chance to break in there. Now that he is leaving, the Main Street Athletic Crub has filed an application to stage shows in Maier Park. This, to my way of thinking, is just another attempt to freeze me out.

"All that stood between Jack Doyle and myself from making some kind of an amiable agreement Monday was the door in Si Master's office, which adjoins the Boxing Commission of fees. If Doyle had walked out the front door instead of passing into Master's office I am certain that we could have arranged everything agreeably between us.

NELSON PLEA DENIED

PHOENIX, March 2. (Exclusive)—
When taken to a dentist's office today, Jack McKee, 23 years of age, held for attempted robbery of a theater ticket seller, dramatically escaped.
He produced a hidden revolver, thrust it against the body of Deputy Sheriff Bakes, whom he then handcuffied, with the dentist, to a radiator. Under durese some assistance was given by a second County Jail inmate, who refused to john in the flight. Every avenue of escape is being watched, as it is believed that McKeen is being taken away by his friends, possibly headed for Mexico.
Since his arrest in Los Angeles he has made several other attempts at escape. Nelson's attorney today appealed to Judge Max Luster to have the psychopathic laboratory withhold a verdict, if it is found the former lightweight champion to be insane. The lawyer pleaded that the former battler's $200,000 estate would be jeopardized if he was reported mentally incompetent.

mined and strenuous effort is to be made by the opponents of tightening up the crime laws of the State to defeat the entire program. While this general public, aware of the decreptitude of the present system, is demanding the passing of bills, the opposition, made up mainly of ball-bond brokers, lesser lawyers and certain radical elements of the unions, has left no stone unturned to upset the entire phogram.

The opposition recently has resorted to playing politics of a very practical sort, by conducting a whispering campaign that Walter K. The opposition is therefore seeking the votes of legislators on the plea that defeat of the commission which drafted the laws, will seek public office. In many instances this type of activity has disgusted Senators and Assemblymen with the faction defending the archaic principles of the present law.

The charges grew out of the "Red" raid on the annual convention of the then Communist Party, held in a secluded section of the sand dunes the proposition in the principles of the present law.

Industries Are The Backbone of Los Angeles

Not only does California produce over 35 per cent of all the fruit grown in the United States, and 28% of all the oil, but within the past ten years Los Angeles has advanced from eleventh place among the manufacturing cities of this country to Sixth place. Great Americans Lived in Country Homes!

EORGE WASHINGTON chose to build his permanent home on the high point of his far-flung acres above the broad Potomac. Thomas Jefferson at Monticello. Theodore Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill. This page could be filled with examples of great minds turning to the quiet and beauty of rural life for surcease from strenuous days.

Today in all America, is there a more ideal setting for a country home than Rancho Santa Fe, California? Here a subsidiary of the Santa Fe Railway is creating a community of income-producing orchard estates with vital factor of joyous living so generously provided as to make the project almost Utopian.

With a mellow climate and fertile rolling mesas between mountains and sea to work with, Nature has fashioned an Eden.

With capital and organization to work with, Men with Vision have guided the miracle of nature toward the ultimate in loveliness.

The region being fairly steeped in Spanish tradition, only Spanish homes are allowed to be built anywhere in the 9,000-acre project. A qualified staff has assembled bits of architectural detail from the Latin countries of the world. Rigid control of architecture is therefore matched by inspiring assistance in planning.

Uses of land and type of orchard planting are likewise restricted. And here again a competent organization guides and assists in horticultural development so that success is certain.

Each purchaser must pledge himself immediately to build, or plant citrus or subtropical fruits, for the first purpose of the development is to create tonnage for the Santa Fe Railway. Thus, all estates increase in value together. No owner is allowed to speculate on another's investment.

Over $4,000,000 has already been spent in developing Rancho Santa Fe and $10,000,000 will have been expended within a few years.

Profit from land sales being no object, prices are low. If glorified rural life appeals to you and if you are qualified to carry out a definite development program on the estate you select, you are cordially urged to send the coupon for full information.

San Diego County, California Address: L. G. Sinnard, Manager

Easy to visit by Santa Fe Trains or by Motor to Del Mar, on Scenic Coast Highway. Thence only six miles to Rancho Santa Fe.

Some choice acreage hitherto reserved for special development is now available.

the Los Angeles Automobile Show, the new Lasalle—a companion-car to Cadillac, built by the Cadillac Motor Car Company entirely within its own plants—is having its world premier showing in Los Angeles, Thursday, March 3.

Elsewhere throughout the world this new high grade car will not be shown until Saturday, March 5th.

The Lasalle is Cadillac's response to the demand for a car of Cadillac calibre to fill a slightly varying field of usefulness.

For four years the combined resources of the Cadillac Motor Car Company and the General Motors organization have been used to develop this great new car—announced only after the most rigid test ever given a car in advance of its presentation to the public.

Distinguished in performance, different in appearance, the new La Salle is in strict accord with Cadillac's fine traditions.

DON LEE presents LaSalle for its world premier to the public of Los Angeles, and California, with genuine pride.

Los Angeles Furnishes Ideas for Colorings

World Premiere of New Line at Tents Today

Factory officials of the various automobile companies are centering their attention on Southern California and the automobile show, several of them by putting in personal appearances here during show week. The latest arrival is F. T. Larsen, general sales manager of the F. B. Stearns Company, whose presence, added to that of E. L. Cord, president of the Auburn Company, and Frederick Moscovics, who is head of the Stutz Company, gives Los Angeles a goodly share of the talent in the largest industry in the United States.

Mr. Larsen put in a personal appearance at the show yesterday. Mr. Moscovics has already made several visits to the exhibition, but yesterday spent the afternoon at the Culver City race track. The head of the Auburn company has been in Beverly Hills for some time now and will remain here at least until after the show closes. Mr. Cord at one time had his home in Los Angeles, then in the days of his youth and before he had become identified with the making of motor cars. Today he is the youngest company head in the industry.

Average Price for All Shows Little Change

Twenty-two new issues were admitted to listing on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange during the year ended Becember 31, last, as compared with a total of seventeen new listings in the preceding year, according to a statement made yesterday by H. H. Lee, assistant excretary and manager of the exchange.

The mining group furnished the bulk of new issues approved by the board of governors with a total of nine. There were five oil stocks admitted to trading and two each in the industrial, public utility, bank and miscellaneous groups. Several of these listings, however, represented companies previously listed, but having a change in capital structure. In 1925, there were only three mining and one oil stock listed, the bulk of listings being in the public utility and miscellaneous groups.

Southern California Common Climbs Abruptly to 218 Bid, Buying May Come from Investors

If there is such a thing as a sensational rise in the stock market with-out the usual flourish and noise accompanying the buying and selling of stock in enormous volume, there is one under way on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. Southern California Gas common is the stock, and the rise within the last six weeks almost duplicates the performances of some of the culative rail shares in the recent activity in the New York market. Ordinarily an advance in price of this size would suggest impending in developments of importance, possibly a sale or consolidation, or dividend action of some kind. Nothing has come to light to confirm any of these possibilities, nor is there any suggestion that outside interests are seeking to obtain control in the open market. The latter supposition is an impact.

OUTPUT LARGE

The year was described as one of exceptionally large output by the country's factories, mines and farms; of orderly distribution of commodities through the channels of trade; of declining political evils and of sustained demand for merchandise by consumers.

"The large volume of business activity," the report continued, "was accompanied by a gradual rise of bank-credit output, standing to the highest level on record and increased indice of average into investment channels, a continuous decline in long-time money rates and a stable and relative easy condition in the short-time money market.

"During the sarly months of the year industries were generally very active, but in the spring there appeared to be some hesitation in the business community and a temporary recession in certain lines of production, particularly in textiles, but also in iron and steel.

"This did not continue, however, and by midsummer industrial activity was once more proceeding at a rapid rate. Building construction, a girl in the dress of the early part of the sixter-th century.

It was at first thought to be by the Dutch painter, Antonio Moro (Sir-Anthony More,) who painted the well-known portrait of Queen Mary, daughter of Henry VIII, which is now in Madrid.

The purchaser took it to Berlin to show Frof. Withelm von Bode, curator of the Emperor Frederick's Museum, the greatest living authority on Holbein. He pronounced it a portrait of Frincess Mary before she became Queen, painted by Holbein.

"It is the greatest artistic discovery of the century." said the Aged professor. "It has all the characteristics of Holbein's style and roust be by him. Nobody else could have painted it. The painting of the hand is his alone."

ISOLATED CAMP BURIES ITS DEAD

Mary Williams of Marooned Settlement on San Cabriel Dies and Neighbors Join in Homely Fashion to Pay

Marooned by the rising waters of the San Gabriel River, and roadways connecting them with the rest of the world obliter-roadways connecting them with the rest of the world obliterated in the recent storm, people living at Williams Camp, about five miles up the East Fork of the river, recently found their lives reverting to an almost medieval simplicity.

Mary and Jim Williams found it that way, too. Though they were getting on in years they relished the Jaunt to Azusa and what outside contacts such as that meant.

"Jest have to put up with it, Mary, I guesa."
Yes, Jim., looks that way," returned the wife.

Then Mary was taken sick—
"just a cold," she said, and when Jim expressed regret that they couldn't get to a doctor anywhere she had said, "Law, don't worry, Jim, I'll be all right in the morning."

But Mary's 65 years had taken more than they had given in the way of vitality, and each subsequent morning she was not better—but worse.

Some folks said it was the flu that caused her death; others figured her heart just 'gave out." Perhaps they were all right. At any rate Mary Willlams died last Saturday shortly before noon. Twelve persons in Williams Camp were mighty sad, and saddest of all, of course, was Jim.

In the midst of their grier, though, something had to be done with Mary's body. Jim selected certain lumber and Bob Roach from the neighboring Follows Camp and Bill Heaton, both close friends, fashioned a coffin.

"'Course we wished we could a done better by the old soul," said Bob Roach last night, "but we did the best we could under the circumstances."

Quaint funeral services—but rites that were most sincere—were conducted Monday afternoon by twelve laymen and laywomen.

"We couldn't get a-hold of a preacher or a priest, being marooned, and so we did the best we could," explained Roach. "We just said prayers; we most all knew the Lord's Prayer, and so we said that. And then some one would say another prayer he knew, and some one else another one—like that. And so we buried Mary right there in the side of the hill."

The burial spot had been named by the woman before death came. Some months previous her much-beloved Maltese cat had died and with gaunt, weather-browned hands she had fashloned a grave and herself buried the pet.

"If I shouldn't get well," she had said, "I want to be buried next to Tabby,"
And so it was done.

Williams Camp is still isolated. The road to Azusa may not be restored before June, it is predicted, for it was washed out for a distance of approximately 150 feet on either side.

Last Honors to One of Members

About forty makers of goods in this part of the State put their stamp of approval on and pledged their co-operation to the Southern California Manufacturers' exhibit at a luncheon in the patio garden of the exhibit halls, 130 South Broadway, at noon yesterday. It was the second such luncheon within a week, and in both cases the enthusiastic manner in which responses to invitations developed, and the mutual helpfulness and good will manifested by those present, indicated that the plans and scope of the exhibit met with their approphation. As a result, the forwarding of installations and the further assignment of space was quite proprograded.

good will manifested by those present, indicated that the plans and scope of the exhibit met with their approbation. As a result, the forwarding of installations and the further assignment of space was quite pronounced.

The luncheon theelf was unique in-into small groups and inspected the that it was furnished complimentary by food exhibitors, and included in the menu were Mission orange juice, Arrowhead water, Del Monte asparagus tips salad with Gelfand's mayonnaise and petite Bishop wafers; Holsum bread sandwiches with Golden State butter, Pepinut spread, Golden West peanut butter, Grogan olives, Peter Piper spiced pickles, Hostess cake, Maxwell House coffee, Adohr cream, Golden West salted peanuts, Santa Fe cigars and Hollywood cigarettes. Incidental to the meal a snappy entertainment was provided by Public Theaters, P. L. Newman, manager, including Dick and Edith Barstow and Sam Warren and Charles Gill. Both teams were excellent.

The meeting after dinner was handled by W. T. Bauer of Superbo Water Heater Company, whose installation was made some weeks past. Short talks were made by Mr. Bauer, E. H. Cooper, E. M. Michaelson, A. W. Moody, L. V. Barger and several others, informally, and the spirit of the entire meeting was one of helpful co-operation and optimism, with the utmost confidence expressed as to the need of the exhibit, its comprehensiveness and the ample backing accorded it by The Times, which paper was represented there by J. Baum, Leo Altman, Sim Crabill, I. R. Bunth, Harry Stuff and W. E. Cline.

After luncheon the party broke up B. Bonnell, National Paper Products.

The pre-election vocal efforts of

If these talks it does so in various tones. Just now it appears to be speaking in a shout. In 1926 the American people had the unprecedented income of $90,000,000,000,000 about $770 for every person in the country, including babes in arms and opera singers. This is in comparison with about $62,000,000,000 for 1921. The remarkable increase of 40 per cent in five years points to a number of interesting facts, chief among which is the policy of the national administration in encouraging legitimate enterprise and fostering sound business under reduced taxation. der reduced taxation.

Never anywhere outside of the Utopia of fiction has there been attained such a widespread and well-distributed degree of financial stability. Not alone has the large manufacturer rolled up the staggering total of almost $100,000,000,000. The small busi ness owner and the tradesman and salary earner likewise have shared in the national prosperity. The people have been protected from exploitation and have thriven mightily under the auspices of an everyigilant government, one of whose chief contributions to prosperity has been to re-train from needless meddling.

An extremely significant fact disclosed in the survey of the National Bureau of Economic Research is the increased buying power of those $90,000,000,000 when reduced to terms of constant purchasing value. If the entire matter consisted of a mere pil-ing up of wealth which had no great power in itself the achievement would not be so remarkable. But it is found that the actual potential use of the dollar has increased 25 per cent since 1917 and 44 per cent since 1909. The antabellum period between 1900 and 1914 commonly is regarded as "the good old days" when cigars were a nickel and the larder was stocked for two-bits. But that is a fallacy. Due to the remarkable contributions of industry and science to or-dinary life, things once regarded as the height of luxury now have become necessi-

All this reconstruction. sion of mental and physical resources to the national cause. All this reconstruction, increased wealth and added comfort of life has been attained under the wise direction of a Republican administration. It was not haphasard. It did not just "happen." It is the concrete evidence of a well-founded and carefully executed economic program. The pledge of 1920 has become more than a reality.

Any attempt of demagogues to disguise o Any attempt of demagogues to disguise or belittle these facts is destined to fail. There is no setting away from them. The people themselves, enjoying a degree of prosperity unparalleled, will not trade a golden bird in the hand for two that glitter in the bush. Ninety billion dollars is a lot of money. It is worth more than many promises. Figures don't lie—but politicians are not so scrupilous.

Radio broadcasting, a babe in swaddling

THE ASSESSMENT OF A STORY OF

National Bank Expansion

By signing the bill authorizing the creation of national bank branches President Coolidge has approved of a measure that will result in greater convenience and safety to the public than it enjoyed under the ability to make keys; but he also needs the allowed waters of single-public national banking. old system of single-unit national banking. The new McFadden-Pepper Act becomes effective immediately and puts an end to the long-continued controversy over branch banking by national banks. It places them on a parity with State banks permitted by local laws to have branches. It probably of the measure, for their business, having received so great an impetus of late years, is bound to expand extensively.

When the Federal Reserve system was established in 1913 the charters of its twelve units were of limited duration and would have expired in 1935, but the new law extends them indefinitely. This is well, for the system has proved its efficiency in banks on numerous occasions and has been the country's banking mainstay and support in all large financing operations, including those incident to our participation in the World War. The time has come for the recognition of it, not merely as an emer-gency institution, but as one capable of a

An assault upon the Federal Reserve sys tem by Congressional agrarians was feared in case the President vetoed the farm bill. The proponents of the McFadden-Pepper measure have shown good strategy in in-sisting upon its passage while the McNary-Haugen bill was before Congress. Had there been any great delay in action upon the banking bill it probably would have suffered ultimate defeat, as the sentiment of the agrarians regarding the measure was

In sanctioning a bill so manifestly de-signed for the public good the President has shown as much readiness to support a beneficial measure as he has to discourage such an unfair and ineffective one as the class-legislation farm bill.

ANATOLE FRANCE ON JOURNALISM BY THE BOOKWORM

Anatole France, who was th broadest, kindliest, most graceful critic I have read, had great respect for newspaper writers. Serthe series of essays collected under the title "On Life and Letters" were newspaper men, and in his essay on Jules Tellier be says:

"There are writers who believe that their superiority alone prevents them from writing for the newspapers. Perhaps they would discover a few other causes for this disability if they were to look for them with diligence. It is necessary, if one is to address the public with the frequent intimacy of the newspaper, to take an alert and good-tempered interest in a great many subjects. One must take a broad and sweeping view of life and ideas. Lastly, one must possess the gift of sympathy, which is rare."

The other day I heard a young intellectual ask of some one: "Is he a literary man or a newspaper". L. J. QUINBY.

They say that nobody is ever hurt in these fistic embroilments that excite Congress from day to day. If the Boxing Commission had control of the situation some of these performers would be blacklisted. When no damaging blows are struck the fans are dublous.

The other day I heard a young intellectual ask of some one: "Is the a literary man or a newspaper man?" the question being that there was a great deal of difference. But good may come out of the mouths of young intellectuals. permitted to say a word on this subject.

The country is overfarmed. There are too many farms and farmers; much of the produce is left in the fields. I have plowed under acres and acres of fine, choice cantaloupes and lettuce and good pickings of cotton.

As soon as any staple commands a profit-making price many turn-in desperation to raising it, and in a season or two it becomes a glut on the market.

The President, in his message for vetoing the bill, states among other things that 17,000,000 acres were added to the raising of cotton the past few years, causing an overproduction—yet did that cause a scarcity in any other farm produce? It did not!

But in spite of this the government is constantly opening new reclamation projects, aggravating the situation; but the big and evergrowing reclamation force must be kept employed.

FOE'S MOTHER A STAGE BEAUTY

Edgar Alian Poe's mother began her theatrical career at a tender age, and her talent as an actress and singer, together with her rare beauty, captivated her audiences.

She was only 9 years of age when her appearance in Fortland, Me., inspired the critic of the Eastern Heraid and Gazette to refer to her as "the beautiful Miss Elizabeth Arnold, whose powers as an actress command admiration." A year later she appeared at Charleston, S. C., with a theatrical company.

In one performance she sang a song, "The Market Lass," and in another she appeared as cupid in a pantomime, "The Magic Chamber."

When she married David Foe, she was described by one writer as "one of the handsomest women in America."—[Fathfinder, In the station agent at Mt. We have a new feeding leaf-let which is intended to help mothers and the diet of their children from 6 weeks to 6 years old. We hope mothers will take advantage of this leaflet, which may be had for the usual self-addressed and stamped envelope and a request for it.

Other leaflets which may be had also are those dealing with:

Death, like all human experiences, is surrounded by many new customs and innovations. Styles change, even in this. For instance, widow's weeds have become very scarce.

It is rare, indeed, to ce a widow weighed down with heavy black crepe nowadays. Time was when stores had special "mourning departments." when a funeral in a family meant rush orders, and every one attending must appear in black, with a great deal of crepe. But now even the closest members of the family appear at funerals in colors, and in sunny countries, like California, white has taken the place of black almost completely.

Men used to wear crepe bands on their hats, crepe bands around thier sleeves, but this custom, too, is departing.

And if it has become fashionable to be born in a hospital, it has become equally fashionable to spend one's last presence on earth in a funeral parior laid out in a specially designed chapel, when the deceased is not of sufficient prominence to call for a church event, and a large strendance. Floral tributes have changed amassingly. White flowers, with possibly a fourty white flowers, with possibly a fourty by the only colors parmitted. But I have attended two widely different funerals recently, the one of a famous man in public life and the other a sweet elderly mother in a small town—and at both the flowers were radiant in a riot of color.

END TWO LIVES

Youth Shoots Self Because of "Shadow Over Life"

Note Tells of Disappointment in Love and Heartache

Second Victim Tries Twice Before Meeting Death

Two suicides, one by shooting, the ther by hanging, were reported by police yesterday.

Larry Murphy, 18 years of age, who lived with his grandmother, Mrs. Emily Basier, at 1670 Winfield street, shot himself in the head, according to Detective Lieutenants Shannon and Miller. He left notes for his father, Martin Murphy, who is in Toledo, and for a friend, John M. Stewart, on the U.S.S. John D. Ford. The substance of the notes, police said, was that a dark shadow was hanging over his life, he had been disappointed in love and his health was poor and his heart heavy. The officers said they learned that several unsuccessful attempts to enlist in the Navy had made him despondent.

spondent. Adolph Miller, 50, hanged himself in a hotel at 721 East Sixth street, where he had registered February 22, last. Officers reported he apparently had made two unsuccessful attempts to hang himself, two broken straps being found in the closet where his hody was discovered. He then, it appeared, went out and bought some heavy fish line and succeeded in taking his life.

Earl J. Clark Scheduled for Death Decree Today; Lawyers Seek Delay

Earl J. Clark, convicted of the "red rose" murder April 19, 1925, of Charles Silva, a sailor, is scheduled to go before Judge Stephens this morning to hear the sentence of death pronounced on him. It was stated yesterday, however, that Nathan C. Freedman and Buell R. Wood, attorneys for Clark, would ask for a continuance in an effort to have Clark's appeal reinstated before the Supreme Court.

Following his conviction on a charge of first-degree murder Clark escaped from the County Jail and made his way to Minot, N. D., where he engaged in business under an assumed name and came to be looked upon as one of the "first citizens" of the town. He was arrested there when police officers identified him from a poster issued by the local Sherif's office following his secape from the County Jail.

Clark had instituted an appeal to the Supreme Court from his conviction in the local courts but the appeal was dismissed when he escaped from the County Jail and no appearance was made in his behalf before the Supreme Court Clark's attorneys now are seeking to have this hispedia reinstated in an effort to keep him from the gallows.

Clark was accused of stabbing Silva to death in a row involving Mayme Stevens, known as the "red rose girl." Earl J. Clark, convicted of the

It was in the hospital ward that he fell in love with his nurse. This same girl of the Red Cross is now Mrs. P. J. Shaw, and she is going back to France with her husband and live over those days when a convenient shell hole seemed more inviting than a palatial mansion.

The only problem which seriously confronted Shaw's desire to accompany the delegation of the American Legion to Paris in 1927, was that or devising a method of obtaining the necessary money for Mr. and Mrs. Shaw know that it takes "beaucoup" francs to visit the land, where their romance first budded.

Shaw turned to the Los Angeles Times as the source jof supply. He procured the unanimous indorsement of Disabled Veterans of the World War Post, No. I, and the Californis Legion Hut Post, No. 278, of Los Angeles, armed himself with a book of Times subscription blanks and, according to this veteran, they are on their way to "Paris if their luck holds out."

Individual flyers have been notified of the Venice Chamber's attitude and the Los Angeles parent body has been asked to take steps to "insure the enforcement of existing regulations, the passing of additional regulations to compel the training and financial responsibility of those using aircraft, the centralization of aircraft activities in limited areas, the adoption of definite air routes and air lanes, the examination of aircraft and equipment before it is used by the public and other matters to protect the general public from injury or property damage."

The Venice Chamber asserts that public danger will be increased hereafter "as the air probably will be more used by persons owning airplanes, very few of whom will be adea quately trained or financially responsible to stand good for personal or property damage."

Hoyt, internationally known advertising man and president of the Charles W. Hoyt Advertising Company of New York, who is here on a vacation.

"I am convinced that the people of Southern California are too busy making money to be bothered with political gossip. During my ten-day visit here not a soul has asked me what I think of Al Smith's chances to win the Democratic nomination for President," he said.

Mr. Hoyt, who is the guest of George D. Hoffman at the El Mirador Ranch near Pasadena, predicts a promising business year for Southern California in 1927.

"While I may be working in an office 3500 miles distant, I am quite conversant with conditions on the Pacific Coast, particularly California. Three firms with which I have intimate contact, have opened branch sales offices here, in anticipation of increased businesses. All manufacturers I represent in a friendly relations capacity, are planning on more business."

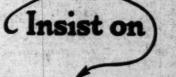

The New York man spoke to 200 students of the University of Southern California Friday on "What Are the Opportunities of Young Men and Women Who Enter into the Marketing Side of Business." He addressed the Los Angeles Advertising Club on Washington's Birthday.

In the Building-Loan method of financing homebuyers, both the principal and interest grow less with succeeding payments.

Month by month your equity steadily increases, until within 120 or 130 months (on the usual purchase plan) your home will be completely paid for, without your feeling for a single moment the anxiety of having a "lump sum" mortgage staring you in the face -an obligation to be met on a certain date.

When the tapers go out in the great Gothic cathedral at the Shrine Auditorium Saturday night the paramount spectacle of the American stage will have passed into history. Europe is clamoring for its return and when the troup leaves here it will be to reappear in another cathedral now being erected for the spectacle in Dortmund, Germany. Curiously enough, the interest in "The Miracle" play grows us the weeks and months pass after it has departed. Those who have missed it raise lamentations recalling those of the foolish virgins.

Los Angeles was fortunate in persuading Mr. Geet and his associates to bring. The Mode in the original schedule. They brought it here without any guarantes, trusting to the culture of the community to appreciate the production. And their confidence was not misplaced, for Los Angeles is fourth in the list in the number of performances given and third in gross receipts.

They collected the money in the guise of fees, it was said, for aiding in selecting desirable homestead sites. This investigation had no connection, it was said, with the Spanish land-grant cases which are being investigated. Harold Craig, alias H. Riker, was indicted on a charge of violating the Mann Act. WOMAN EXPLORER She May Yet Reach the Pole,

Though Germans Laugh at Her

A group of German scientists recently drank a toast "to the first woman to reach the North or South Pole." Accounts of the incident indicate that it may have been something of an ambiguous academic spike, for Germany, it is said, in spite of its numerous exceptions, still clings to the theory that the fran's place is in the haus. However, the development of a feminine Peary or Byrd or Amundsen is not by any means out of the question.

Annie Peck, in 1908, climbed to a mountainous altitude never before reached by man. Gertrude Ederle, in swimming the English Channel, broke all male records made before her plunge. Mrs. Delia Akeley has roamed the African jungles and Mrs. Marguerite Harrison has made the perilous trek of the Baktiari tribes. In fact, women have so heartily entered the field of exploration that the newly formed Society of Woman Geographers already has a membership of twenty-two.

That they have so far over-looked the Arctic regions means little. There is time. German scientists who toast up their alseves would do well to conceal the fact. They may yet have their high that knocked off by a snow-ball thrown from the North Pole by a woman.—[New York Evening Post. Though Germans Laugh at Her
